READY THIS DAY

THE NEW NOVEL BY THE AUTHOR OF "CONISTON"

Mr. Winston Churchill's

Mr. Crewe's Career

By the author of "Richard Carvel," "The Crisis," etc.

Mr. Churchill, from the time he wrote "Richard Carvel," has held a larger following than any novelist in America. In this new book interest is specially strong, as it is a novel of the political and social life of to-day; a love story of charm, and unquestionably the "big" novel of the year.

With eight full-page illustrations. Cloth, $1.50

THE NEW NOVEL BY THE AUTHOR OF "FAIR MARGARET"

Mr. F. Marion Crawford's

The Primadonna

"Mr. Crawford is at his best in this romance. He tells an absorbing story, and he places at the centre of it a woman whose character is full of interest. . . . It is a dramatic beginning, and Mr. Crawford goes on as he begins . . . the whole tangled business becomes more and more exciting, and we follow the Primadonna through the proceedings with breathless interest."—New York Tribune.

By

WILLIS GEORGE EMERSON

Author of

"Buell Hampton," "The Builders," etc.

A phenomenally large number of advance orders have already been received. The only explanation of this unexpected advance order record is the fact that "The Smoky God" has been running serially in one of the leading magazines.

"The Smoky God" is a marvelous tale of adventure; a most striking innovation, and tells about the travels and discoveries of one Olaf Jansen, a Norwegian and disciple of the Gods Odin and Thor—tells of a new land far beyond the North Wind. It is strikingly dramatic and intensely fascinating.

Book dealers will find it a big seller. Every copy sold will create a growing demand among booklovers and readers everywhere.

"The Smoky God," now in press, will be ready for delivery about May 15. Attractive cover design, 12mo.

ROBERT LEE DURHAM'S Great American Novel

THE CALL OF THE SOUTH

(Six illustrations. $1.50)

The New York Times writes the publishers that the editor of THE TIMES SATURDAY BOOK REVIEW is disinclined to review the book because it reflects upon the honor of the President; and, more particularly, that it puts a gross indignity upon a young girl whom it practically names.

We consider this a very far-fetched conclusion; and quote from a letter just received from Dr. Martin H. Harding, Pastor Third Presbyterian Church, Chicago. . . . "The force of the book is tremendous. In dramatic power it equals Tolstoi's 'RESURRECTION.' Senator Rutledge's speech is the most powerful thing on the race question I have ever seen in print."

Ready at Once

Spinster Farm

By HELEN M. WINSLOW. Author of "Literary Boston," etc. Illustrated with many original photographs. $1.50.

Whatever Miss Winslow writes is good, for she is in accord with the life worth living. The Spinster, her niece "Peggy," the Professor, and young Robert Graves—not forgetting Hiram, the hired man—are the characters to whom we are introduced on "Spinster Farm."

Light-hearted character sketches, and equally refreshing and unexpected happenings are woven together with a thread of happy romance of which Peggy of course is the vivacious heroine. Alluring descriptions of nature and country life are given with fascinating bits of biography of the farm animals and household pets.

Anne of Green Gables

By L. M. MONTGOMERY. With 8 illustrations by M. A. and W. A. J. Claus. $1.50.

Every one, young or old, who reads the story of "Anne of Green Gables," will fall in love with her, and tell their friends of her irresistible charm. In her creation of the young heroine of this delightful tale, Miss Montgomery will receive praise for her fine sympathy with and delicate appreciation of sensitive and imaginative girlhood.

The story would take rank for the character of Anne alone; but in the delineation of the characters of the old farmer, and his crabbed, dried-up spinster sister who adopt her, the author has shown an insight and descriptive power which add much to the fascination of the book.

Captain Love

The history of a most Romantic event in the life of an English gentleman during the reign of his Majesty George the First. Containing incidents of courtship and danger as related in the chronicles of the period and now set down in print.

By THEODORE ROBERTS. Author of "The Red Feathers," etc. With six illustrations by Louis D. Gowing. $1.50.

A stirring romance with its scene laid in the troublous times in England when so many broken gentlemen foregathered with the "Knights of the Road."

How is Your Stock of "BRITISH HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS FROM A MOTOR CAR"?

Bliss Carman's New Book, "THE MAKING OF PERSONALITY"

Captain Hains' "BAHAMA BILL," and

Gamaliel Bradford, Jr.'s "MATTHEW PORTER"?

TIMELY GIFT BOOKS

NOTES IN SEASON.

D. APPLETON & Co. have postponed until May 15, Alfred Henry Lewis' new book, "Wolfville Folks."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready

Winston Churchill's new story, "Mr. Crewe's Career" and F. Marion Crawford's "The Primadonna." Both volumes are illustrated.

A. C. McCLURG & Co., encouraged by the success of the new Randall Parrish story, "Prisoners of Chance," and Charles E. Walk's remarkable "detective" story, "The Silver Blade," are making extra efforts to give the bookseller every opportunity to bring these books to the notice of their constituents by extra advertising and window display, of which they give an example in this issue.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have just brought out a volume of "Stories of Wagner Operas Told for Children," by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Wheelock, a teacher in the Horace Mann Schools. The book retells, in simple English, the plots of "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," "The Flying Dutchman," "Lohengrin," "The Rhinegold," "The Walkyries," "Siegfried" and "The Dusk of the Gods." The "stories" have a sort of vocal directness because they are actual conversations set down exactly as they have been many times "talked off" by the author to children of all ages.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish on May 7 a new volume by Margaret Deland, entitled "R. J.'s Mother and Some Other People," stories which hold a bit of quiet tragedy, more than a hint of comedy, an insight into silent grief and an outlook upon final joy; "The Golden Rose," a new story by Amelie Rives, which is described as "a brilliant, delicate, unparalleled story of love that is half fire, half spirit;" "The Enchanted Castle," a new book for young people by E. Nesbit Bland, author of "The Enchanted Castle;" also, "Principles of Banking," by Charles A. Conant, an international authority, having been a member both of the Philippine Monetary Commission and the Mexican Monetary Commission. Mr. Conant's forthcoming work is based upon the author's "The Principles of Money and Banking," but this new excerpt has been made to deal exclusively with practical banking problems, including "The Origin of Crises" and "The Management of Crises."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just brought out "The struggle for American Independence," by Sydney George Fisher, author of "The True History of the American Revolution," a two-volume work giving a comprehensive history of the whole Revolutionary movement from a point of view quite different from the usual one; the first volume of "The Works of James Buchanan," collected and edited by John Bassett Moore, to be completed in twelve volumes; "In the Dead of Night," a story of mystery and adventure, by John T. McIntyre, author of "The Ragged Edge;" also, "The Duchess of Dreams," by Edith Macvane, a society novel with scenes set in Newport, founded on a successful hoax played off by a certain well-known society leader. They have in preparation W. P. Cressor's work on "Persia—the Awakening East," and an English translation of Roger Boutet de Monvel's "Beau Brummel and His Times—the Last of the Beaux."

A new version of the old Christ-taught doctrine of God all and in all. The author, who is a physician, claims that the church, the rulers and an insufficient knowledge of the Bible have stood between man and his Maker. He does not give heed to what has been taught of the past or prophesied of the future, but aims to make each person feel that it is his thought and conduct in the present moment that must show the world that every man may be perfect and worthy to belong to the equitable union with God and Jesus Christ, who was sent to show how every man may be divine.

A. H. Clough, Matthew Arnold, D. G. Rossetti, and William Morris are the four poets who are the subjects of Dr. Brooke's study. He acknowledges their share in the poetic movement of the latter half of the nineteenth century, and shows his appreciation of the quality and importance of their work. The writer's able expositions of the art of Tennyson and Browning, hold forth to those who have read them, an expectation of the same insight and literary judgment here, and they will not be disappointed.

Brown, Alice. Rose MacLeod. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1908. c. '07, '08. 407 p. front. D. cl., †$1.50.

A novel by the author of "The County Road," etc. The book is full of real people—a witty old lady and her elderly lover; an American art student from Paris and his eccentric brother who has turned market gardener; Electra, a beautiful girl with a

New England conscience, and the heroine, Rose, whose sudden appearance in the family circle as the widow of Electra's brother leads to many amusing and startling complications. The heroine's father, in the character of a professional labor agitator, adds a note of grim seriousness to the narrative, in striking contrast to the pleasant domesticity of the scenes into which he is introduced.

Carpenter, E: Sketches from life in town and country, and some verses; with portrait. N. Y., Macmillan, 1908. 6+273 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.

Mr. Carpenter is the author of "Days with Walt Whitman," "The art of creation," and other books; and the present collection exhibits his pleasing characteristics to excellent advantage.

Clegg, T: Bailey. The bishop's scapegoat. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1908. c. 407 p. D. cl., $1.50.

An English clergyman, avenging an insult to his sister, knocks a miserable old scoundrel down and leaves him, as he imagines, dead. The scene is Paris. The clergyman has scarcely left the house, when a doctor enters with the object of reclaiming papers incriminating his dead wife. He thinks the old man dead, but learns on examining him that he may be revived—but he leaves him to die, after finding the papers and destroying them. A man who has watched him denounces him as a murderer. He is tried, convicted, and sent to the French penal colonies in Africa. The clergyman becomes a bishop, and in visiting the colony where his "scapegoat" is dying, learns the truth. Describes convict life minutely.

Corbin, J: Which college for the boy?: leading types in American education; with illustrations. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1908. c. 17+274 p. D. cl., $1.50 net.

In this attractive book, describing a group of typical American colleges and universities, Mr. Corbin deals with Princeton, a collegiate University; Harvard, a Germanized University; Michigan, a middle-eastern University; Cornell, a technical University; Chicago, a University of enchantment; Wisconsin, a utilitarian University, and with the small colleges versus the university and with the agricultural college. He has personally visited all the colleges described and has made a careful study of their ideals and courses of instruction. Mr. Corbin has for many years been the dramatic critic of the New York Sun. He is the author of "An American at Oxford," etc.

Cortes, Fernando. Letters of Cortes: the five letters of relation from Fernando Cortes to the Emperor Charles v.; translated and ed., with a biographical introd. and notes compiled from original sources, by Francis A: MacNutt. N. Y., Putnam, 1908. c. 2 v., 11+354; 7+374 p. pors. pls. maps, plans, O. hf. cl., $10 net. (750 sets.)

This sumptuous edition of the letters of Cortes presents for the first time in a consecutive English translation the five letters of relation from Fernando Cortes to the Emperor Charles V. Historians and scholars have long recognized these letters as the earliest and most authoritative source of information on Mexican conquest. The present version has been translated throughout by Mr. MacNutt, who has rendered the cumbersome sixteenth-century Spanish of Cortes in readable English. Mr. MacNutt is well fitted for his task, having been a devoted student of Spanish literature since his boyhood, when he was initiated into Spanish-American history under the scholarly direction of the late Abbé Fischer. The notes he has appended to the letters from both ancient and modern sources serve to illustrate, complete and correct the narrative.

Crawford, Francis Marion. The primadonna: a sequel to "Fair Margaret." N. Y., Macmillan, 1908. c. '07. 396 p. front. D. cl., $1.50.

"Fair Margaret" left Margaret Donne at the opening of her operatic career. "The prima donna" introduces her two years later as a great artist. She has just finished a successful engagement at the Metropolitan Opera House, and is about leaving, when she is called to the manager's room at the request of a dying girl, who makes a confession to her which seems to accuse her fiancé, Rufus Van Torp, the millionaire, of having been her murderer. Van Torp henceforth is the leading figure, the question being did he or did he not kill Ida Bamberger, and what are his relations to another woman, etc. The scene changes from an ocean steamer to London, where we hear a great deal about the heroine's love affairs, and her fear of Van Torp.

Crooker, Joseph H: The church of to-day: a plea. Bost., Pilgrim Press, 1908. c. 177 p. D. cl., *75 c. net.

Progressive men in all denominations realize that religious beliefs ought to be modernized. This age needs to do what the fourth and sixth centuries did. The demand is not so much for a creed revision as for a creed subordination. The vital in religion is to be kept and lived and it is believed earnest, honest people of every creed will learn to meet harmoniously in the church of to-day.

Eldridge, W: Tillinghast. Meryl; front. by J: Rae. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1908. c. 8+323 p. D. cl., $1.50.

This new novel by the author of "Hilma" has its scene in New Hampshire around Lake Winnepesaukee. "Meryl" is a young girl who comes all the way from Ireland to her supposed uncle's home on the lake. Her uncle is an eccentric recluse, who has sent a trusted servant to bring her to him. Her abduction before she reaches his home, with its resulting series of mysterious events, is cleverly told. There is a dishonest lawyer, forged documents and so on, and the brave young lover, who makes everything right.

Havelock Ellis has visited Spain five times, traversing it in all directions and leaving it by all its chief ports. He has tried to get at the spirit of Spain and as a deep student of psychology he has gained much knowledge in a shorter period than many travellers might need. He shows how Spain represents above all "the supreme manifestation of a certain primitive and eternal attitude of the human spirit, an attitude of heroic energy, of spiritual exaltation directed towards the fundamental facts of human existence"—not towards comfort or gain.

The aim of the book is to give facts for the practical information of the voter, without argument either for or against any theory or proposal of reform. The history of elections and of election laws has been drawn upon only so far as it seemed necessary to make clear why certain features of the election system exist and how they operate.

Susan had the reputation of having been a flirt before her marriage, but a friend probably described her more truly, when she said she was "feather-headed." A lack of intelligence rather than design, brings about the series of events, which Susan started with a slight misrepresentation, fearing to arouse her husband's jealousy. It effects seriously the progress of a man's love affair, and makes Susan's life miserable, as she is in constant fear of being found out. The scene is New York City. The amusing little story comes from the author of "The Thinking Machine."

The Master has an inn for tired souls and diseased bodies in the midst of a forest preserve near the Canadian frontier. Neither medicine nor doctor is here, in the usual meaning of the term, but the Master works out the salvation of each of his guests in his own way. His scheme, which is by no means intricate, is illustrated by the story, "The simple life;" confession and repentance seem to be its leading influences.

Mr. Kidd has been a careful student of the natives of South Africa, and has produced in his "Savage childhood," and other books, a study of Kafir characteristics which is of great value. In the present volume he attacks with intelligence and vigor the problem of the future of the black natives of South Africa in relation to civilization. He holds that this problem must be attacked in the light of the fact that the Kafir has an extraordinary spirit of altruism and a camaraderie rarely equalled among civilized nations, and that the whole bent of his mind and customs is towards socialism; the individualism of the white man is not possible to him.

McCutcheon, G. Barr. The husbands of Edith; with il. by Harrison Fisher and decorations by Theodore B. Hapgood. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1908. c. 127 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A young New Yorker meets an old college chum in Paris, who by many ingenious arguments persuades him to assume his identity for a few weeks and travel with his wife and baby and nurse through the Tyrol. The friend who asks this remarkable favor is an Englishman, who for important political reasons, wishes to return to London and keep his return a secret. His friend assumes his name, his clothes and his monocle, little thinking of the many embarrassments that are in store for him and his supposed wife. As he falls deeply in love with the wife's sister he is looked upon as a faithless husband, much scandal resulting. Impossible as the conditions seem to be, once accepted, one cannot but be amused with the cleverness of the story. By the author of "Graustark."

These two volumes comprise a historical document of the first importance—Madison's complete record of the proceedings of the Constitutional Convention, and give in the notes comparative comments based upon that journal and the less complete chronicles of the convention made by Yates, King and Pierce. His (Madison's) is the only continuous record of the proceedings of the convention. He took a seat immediately in front of the presiding officer, facing the members, and took down every speech or motion as it was made, using abbreviations of his own and immediately afterward transcribing his notes when he returned to his lodgings.

Maury, Matthew Fontaine, and Simonds, Frederic W: Maury-Simonds physical geography: physical geography, by M. F. Maury; rev. and largely rewritten, by Frederic W: Simonds. N. Y., American Book Co., [1908.] c. 347 p. il. maps, O. cl., $1.20.

The advance of geographic science has been so great during the last decade that a thorough revision of the older text-books has become imperative. To the end that Maury's "Physical geography" may maintain its position as a favorite text-book, it has been not only revised but largely rewritten by Mr. Simonds, professor of geology in the University of Texas. In doing so, an effort has been made to preserve as far as possible the plan of the older work—a plan that has met the approval of a generation of teachers—and at the same time, to modernize the text thoroughly.

The scene of this story is laid in Italy, where Esther de Trobo, the young American widow of an Italian nobleman, is living in retirement. Having no children of her own, she takes a great fancy to a little Italian orphan named Sandro, whom she has rescued from drowning, and decides to adopt him. Count de Foresti, to shield himself as he hopes to marry Esther, persuades her to believe that her husband was the boy's father, while Sandro is in reality Foresti's illegitimate son. The jealousy of the boy's mother, the scheming of Foresti, and the eventual discovery of his falsehood are dramatically described.

Contents: Spring-time with Theocritus; From Athens to Corfu; Midsummer in Tuscany; Bergamo and the Bergamasque Alps; The centenary of Alfieri at Asti; The wraith of a Ducal City; Life on a Tuscan farm. Author of "Day and night stories" and "Roses of shadow."

Thayer, W: Roscoe. Italica: studies in Italian life and letters. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1908. c. 8+364 p. O. cl., $1.50 net.

Essays written during the past ten or twelve years. Contents: Fogazzaro and his masterpieces; Venetian legends and pageants; Mazzini's centenary; Dante in America; Giordano Brunio's "Expulsion of the beast triumphant"; Countess Martinengo Cesaresco; Leopardi's home; The election of a pope; Thirty years of Italian progress; Luigi Chiala; Dante as lyric poet; Cardinal Hohenlohe—liberal; Italy in 1907; Giosue Carducci. Mr. Thayer has the reputation of being one of the best known Italian scholars in America. He is the author of "The dawn of Italian independence."

Thomson, J: Arthur. Heredity; with 49 illustrations. N. Y., Putnam, 1908. 16+605 p. O. (Science ser.; ed. by E: Lee Thorndike and F. E. Beddard.) cl., *$3.50 net.

Author is regius professor of natural history in the University of Aberdeen. Has written many works in this line, such as "The study of animal life," "The science of life," etc. The present work is intended as an introduction to the study of heredity. It aims to be comprehensive and accurate, without being exhaustive or mathematical. "I have tried," he says in his preface, "to avoid partisan handling of any theme, though I have been at no pains to conceal my general adherence to what is called Weismannism, or—to take a particular case—my conviction that we do not know of any instance of the transmission of an acquired character." Bibliography (48 p); subject-index to bibliography (10 p). Index.

Wallace, G: The disinherited: observations in travel, giving new views and descriptions of old routes and scenes; also conditions of old world people observed and depicted, with incidental study of the cause of the poverty which afflicts so many; followed by timely comments on home topics. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie Publishing Co., [1908.] c. 3-215 p. D. cl., $1.

In a series of "Observations on travel" the author makes a sympathetic study of conditions of a large proportion of the various peoples existing in want and misery. To find so many starving in a land of plenty excites the traveller's curiosity until he realizes that the bounties of nature have been monopolized by the privileged few, and the common people have been disinherited.

Ward, J: J. Some nature biographies: plant, insect, marine, mineral; with upwards of 200 il. reproduced from photographs and photomicrographs taken by the author. N. Y., John Lane Co. (The Bodley Head,) [1908.] 16+307 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The several life histories contained in this volume are largely the outcome of personal observations of nature. They were originally published as articles in leading English magazines, and found generous appreciation.

Mr. Weathers is lecturer on horticulture to the Middlesex County Council and author of "A practical guide to garden plants," etc.

Webb, M. de P. India and the empire: a consideration of the tariff problem; with an introd. by Sir E: Fg. Low. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1908. 24+193 p. tabs., D. cl., *$1.20 net.

The Honorable Mr. Webb is chairman of the Karachi Chamber of Commerce; he is an ardent supporter of Mr. Chamberlain's policy of preferential tariffs and a prolific writer on financial and economic matters. The main objects of the present work are: (1) to briefly present the case for tariff reform and preferential trade in a somewhat new garb; and (2), more particularly, to exhibit the true position and strength of India and the great importance of her assuming a leading part in the rising movement for Imperial tariff revision. Sir E: Law, who furnishes an introduction, was lately finance minister of the government of India.

A story of love and crime, with its scene laid in London. The heroine is the daughter of an artist, who dies suddenly leaving her penniless. Her father has spent his money extravagantly, so she has been used to every luxury, and is ignorant of any useful knowledge by which she can support herself. She is wronged by an utterly selfish man and is too honorable to accept the love of a good man who asks her to be his wife. Her wrongs drive her to murder, her own sudden death following.

Younghusband, G: J: The story of the Guides; with illustrations. N. Y., Macmillan, 1908. 16+207 p. 8°, cl., *$2.25 net.

The picturesque history of a regiment which has been prominent in the military annals of India ever since its origin in Lucknow during the Mutiny. The writer, himself an officer of the Guides, is already widely known as an explorer and a writer of military chronicles.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE BROOKLYN (N. Y.) PUBLIC LIBRARY has published a partial list of its books on subjects connected with the exhibit of Congestion of Population in Greater New York (247 titles).

KARL W. HIERSEMANN, Leipzig, announces a supplement to Hain and Panzer in a work entitled "Beiträge zur Inkunabel bibliographie — Nummernconcordanz von Panzer's lateinischen und deutschen Annalen und Ludwig Hain's Repertorium bibliographicum," edited by Konrad Burger, the librarian of the Börsenverein der Deutschen Buchhändler at Leipzig. In the first part of his work Burger assembles the works of the fifteenth century printers cited by Panzer in his "Annales Latini," (v. 1-4,) and the supplements in parts ix and xi of Panzer that note the incunabula, with references to the later bibliographies of incunabula by Hain, Campbell, Pellechet, Proctor, Haebler and Voullieme. Burger has attempted to identify the impressions recorded by Panzer with those in the later bibliographies. In this identification reference in general has been made to the works of Hain, Copinger, Pellechet and Proctor; for the Netherlands to the work of Campbell, for Cologne to the work of Voullieme and for Spain to the work of Haebler. In a similar manner Burger has treated Panzer's German "Annalen" in so far as it treats of the impressions of the fifteenth century. The second part of Burger's work contains an index by Hain's numbers to the sources and references in Hain's "Repertorium." In dealing with this portion of his work Burger referred also to the above quoted bibliographies and, in addition, cited the bibliographies of Goetze, Madan, Macfarlane, Schorbach-Spirgatis and others. In this part Burger also attempted to trace doubtful or apocryphal impressions; to record fragments of works that are cited as complete with reference to the number in which they are so given, and to trace works that appeared after the fifteenth century, and if possible to ascertain their exact date of printing. The work is put out in a limited edition. (440 p. 8°. 28 marks.)

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MAY 2, 1908.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

SPRING HOUSE-CLEANING.

THE latter part of April and the first half of May is a good time to engineer sales—to clear out the old winter stocks and to make room for a better showing of the Spring and Summer lines. If the clearance sales held during March have not fairly well cleared out things, it would be well to put on extra steam and make a strenuous effort to do so now.

If March and the early part of April have left the bookseller and stationer well prepared for spring and summer business, the "tail-end" sale should be conducted in such parts of the store that will not interfere with the display of the new books and novelties.

During the slow season that is now confronting the trade, every advantage should be taken of attracting the neighborhood to the bookstore by the offer of such of the old stock as may be disposed of at bargain prices. In every book and stationery shop there is bound to be a residuum of stock that has outlived its usefulness so far as the regular trade is concerned, but that may still be made attractive to those who would buy if they could be convinced that by buying now they may obtain "left-overs" at a more favorable price than was asked for the goods when they were new some time ago.

To reach the constituency for these remainders it will be necessary to exploit them in the local papers, consecutively for the time that the clearance sale is to last. Always, in connection with the books and novelties offered at reduced prices, the bookseller should also draw attention to the current new books and stationery. The mailing list should be carefully gleaned, and every customer of whom a record is kept specially canvassed. The announcements to such addresses should be made as individual as possible, so as to command attention. An announcement of this kind will impress the recipient more favorably than if it were prepared as a regular advertisement. Then the advertising must be backed up in the store by making as much of the merchandise as possible, and in decorating the store impressively and appropriately rather than elaborately and gaudily.

TYPESETTING AND PHOTOGRAPHY BY WIRELESS WAVES.

HANS KNUDSEN, the Danish inventor, famous for his achievements with liquid air, after giving the first public demonstration of long-distance wireless photography, according to the London correspondent of the New York Times, made the statement on April 28, at the Hotel Cecil in London, that he has already perfected an invention by which he can set type on an ordinary linotype machine in Paris by wireless waves thrown from London.

"I shall publicly demonstrate my new wireless typesetting invention within a few weeks," said Mr. Knudsen. "I have already had the first machine constructed, and it has proved successful, setting 3000 words an hour, at a distance, just as if the operator were working the machine. The time is not far distant when, with my invention, the London correspondents of the New York newspapers will be able to send their news straight to the printing press through the Marconi operator."

In the course of his demonstration of wireless photography Mr. Knudsen, at the Hotel Cecil, on the same evening, "sent photographs of the King, Queen and Kaiser from one room in the hotel through the wall, into another, without wires, the pictures proving recognizable. He had constructed in the first room a transmitter with a needle point passing over a picture prepared on a glass plate from a photograph. The needle continually vibrated over the plate, according to the roughness or smoothness of the surface. A succession of electric waves was accurately recorded by a plate on the wall. These waves were in turn caught by another receiving plate in the adjoining room after passing through the wall, the picture being again accurately recorded by the receiving instrument on a smoked glass plate. From this plate recognizable photographs were printed on sensitized paper. 'I claim I can send pictures wherever Marconi can send messages,' said Mr. Knudsen. 'Within a short time I shall be sending pictures of criminals and finger prints from England to New York.'"

GERMAN BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1907.

THE following statistics of the book production in Germany, during 1907, were prepared by J. C. Hinrichs, the publisher of the official booktrade bibliography:

	1906	1907
1. Bibliography, Library Economy, Encyclopædias, Completed works, Collected works, Publications of Societies and Universities.....	552	623
2. Theology.....	2,422	2,549
3. Law and Political Science.....	2,801	2,922
4. Medicine.....	1,827	1,849
5. Natural Sciences, Mathematics....	1,526	1,556
6. Philosophy, Theosophy.....	679	743
7. Education, Books for the Young...	4,250	4,210
8. Language and Literature.....	1,649	1,953
9. History.....	1,188	1,269
10. Geography, Atlases and Charts....	1,293	1,555
11. Military Science.....	715	693

17. Directories, Calendars, Year-books.	593	616
18. Miscellaneous.....	501	524
Total.....	28,703	30,073

These statistics, it should be borne in mind, include many pamphlets, theses and leaflets issued by universities and other educational institutions, which in other countries are not regarded as books, but which help considerably to swell the total German book production.

WANT ONLY UNION-BOUND BOOKS.

THE unions in New York City affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have decided, at the request of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, to make a demand on the city officials that the books for the different branches of the New York Public Library be bound only by union men who are American citizens. The same demand is to be made with regard to the public libraries in all other cities.

According to the local officers of the Brotherhood, much of the binding for the public libraries is done abroad and by an English concern that has a branch in Brooklyn, N. Y., where it is claimed the work is done almost exclusively by non-union bookbinders.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CERCLE DE LA LIBRARIE BELGE.

THE CERCLE DE LA LIBRARIE BELGE on April 13 celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary in the Musée Du Livre in Brussels. Representatives of the booktrade in the large cities of Belgium, from Paris, Leipzig, London, Madrid and Berne were present. Adolphe Hoste, the president of the Cercle, welcomed the gathering, which was then addressed by M. Schollaert, the Belgian minister of literature and art, who referred to the good work done by the Belgian booktrade in 1897, during the second congress of publishers. Gauthier Villars greeted the Cercle in behalf of the French booktrade, and presented a silver medal inscribed "A nos amis de Belgique, leurs Collègues du Cercle de la Librarie de Paris. Souvenir du 13 Avril 1908."

Sig. Vallardi brought greetings from his colleagues in Italy, and Heer Van Kampen greeted the Cercle on behalf of the booktrade in the Netherlands. The Cercle d'Etudes typographiques de Bruxelles, through Heer Grègoire, presented to their colleagues a handsome volume representing the work of their apprentices.

The report of Secretary Ernest Vandereld in its survey of the work of the Cercle during its twenty-five years' existence referred, among other things, to its "Annuaire, Recueil des Catalogues. le Livre belge, Bibliographie de la Belgique, its organization of the booktrade, regulation of distribution, its course of practical instruction, its activities in the Congress of Publishers, in the Permanent Bureau, in copyright legislation, etc.

The festivities ended in a dinner given in the Restaurant de la Monnaie.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MYRTLE REED, (Mrs. J. S. McCullough,) has finished a new story, "Flower of the Dusk," to be brought out this fall by G. P. Putnam's Sons.

GEORGE CARY EGGLESTON, whose forthcoming novel, "Two Gentlemen of Virginia," has just been sent to the printer by his publishers, Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co., has accepted an invitation from Richmond College, Richmond, Va., to deliver the Commencement address on June 10.

MISS MARY WRIGHT PLUMMER, director of the Pratt Institute Library School, whose "Roy and Ray in Mexico" is already in its second printing, has just made arrangements with Henry Holt & Co. to furnish another book, "Roy and Ray in Canada," a story of Canadian travel for young folks, which they will bring out early in the fall.

LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY have received from Mrs. Jeremiah Curtin the manuscript of her late husband's "The Mongols in Russia," which is a continuation of his work on the same race brought out last fall. This is the last book Mr. Curtin completed before his death, and is a fitting achievement to crown the years devoted to study and research along the line in which his superb qualities as a linguist and translator made him pre-eminent. It will be one of Little, Brown & Company's most valuable contributions to the literature of 1908.

OBITUARY.

JOHN MURRAY BROWN.

JOHN MURRAY BROWN, the senior member of the firm of Little, Brown & Co., died, after a week's illness, on April 28, at his home on Common Street, Belmont, one of the suburbs of Boston. Mr. Brown was at his desk as usual on April 22, but during the day was taken ill. It was then discovered that he was suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. Brown was born in Belmont in 1842. He was the youngest son of James Brown, one of the founders of the firm of Little, Brown & Co., who had charge of its foreign department. Of the elder Mr. Brown's trips to Europe in the forties and fifties of the nineteenth century interesting records are preserved in his journals and letters. On his first visit to London, in 1841, he met the lovable John Murray, who treated him with such "cordial and hospitable kindness" as to completely win his heart, and it was therefore natural that when his first son was born that he should bear the name of John Murray Brown. On being graduated from Harvard in 1863, eight years after his father's death, young Brown at once entered the firm of Little, Brown & Co., which had gathered about it by that time some of the ablest men in the business, such as Augustus Flagg, Benjamin S. Heywood, William J. Parsons, Henry T. Miles, John Bartlett, Thomas W. Deland and George Flagg.

Mr. Brown was married in 1872 to Caroline Lamson, daughter of Charles Lamson, of New York, who, with six children, four sons and two daughters, survives him. Two of his children, Murray and Philip Brown, are associated with their father's publishing business, the former being in charge of the book bindery in Cambridge. One of his daughters is Mrs. George Keyes, of Concord, while the other, Miss Marjorie Brown, lives with her mother. Two other sons, Robert and Arthur, are in business in the West.

Mr. Brown lived on the fine estate in Belmont that formerly belonged to his father. He was greatly interested in town affairs, and was for many years a trustee of the Belmont Public Library. He was a member of the Somerset and Exchange Clubs of Boston, and of the Oakley Country Club. He was greatly beloved by his associates and by all who came into close relations with him. As the Boston Transcript truly says of him: "As the active head of one of the oldest and largest book publishing houses in the country for more than forty years, he was always interested in the best literature and a great nature lover as well. He was a typical representative of the group of men who made and maintained Boston's reputation as a literary and publishing centre."

Among Mr. Brown's classmates at Harvard were many men who have made their mark in the world: John Fiske, the historian; Jeremiah Curtin, the linguist; Charles S. Fairchild, the late Governor Greenhalge, Francis L. Higginson, C. C. Jackson, Dr. John Collins Warren and Francis Caleb Loring.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HERMAN ESSER died on April 9, at his home in Godesberg-on-the-Rhine, Germany, in his sixty-third year. He retired six years ago from the firm of Keuffel & Esser, manufacturers of drawing materials and surveying instruments. He was for many years vice-president and treasurer of the concern. The business was established by Mr. Esser and William Keuffel in 1867.

HARRY BISHOP, well-known to the jobbing and retail trade in the United States and Canada, died suddenly on April 16 in London, aged fifty. Since boyhood Mr. Bishop was in the publishing trade, first with Macmillan & Co. in London, then for several years with the same house in New York. In 1895 he returned to England and since that time represented Archibald Constable & Co. in England, periodically visiting New York, Boston, Chicago and Toronto on their behalf. His latest journey to the United States was made as recently as January of this year.

POST-CARD NOTES.

SPITZER & Co., New York City, are marketing striking post-cards for the Fourth of July trade, in the air-brush-work style of which they make a specialty.

PAUL C. KOBER Co., 85 Franklin Street, New York City, has brought out a special set of Diabolo post-cards; also, a leap year set, which is proving popular.

THE "name" card seems to be coming into greater favor every day. As yet, most of them are rather showy and inartistic, but, we are told, "they take just the same."

A PIN cushion sachet and hand-painted post-card is made by the Fabric Art Company, 152 Fifth Avenue, New York City. They have also just brought out a series of "stein" cards, eighteen designs.

JULIUS BIEN COMPANY appeal to the patriotic American with a line of explosive Fourth-of-July cards, some showing a big red embossed fire cracker on a figure four, others with fire crackers exploding, etc.

THE ROSE COMPANY, Philadelphia, have just brought out an attractive card with the Ten Commandments. A line of these has been gotten up for the Roman Catholic trade, prepared under the supervision of the Rev. P. R. McDevitt, superintendent of the Philadelphia parochial schools.

W. H. PARKER, of New Haven, Conn., has in preparation a series of six historic post-cards of New Haven, showing Yale College in 1785, and the historic buildings before 1830. These views will be reproduced, in color, from rare prints and should be of interest to every graduate of Yale or resident of New Haven.

THE DODGE PUBLISHING COMPANY is making an attractive line of post-card frames, 5x7 inches with glass, also a souvenir post-card calendar mount, in three series—5½x11 for upright cards, 7x9 for oblong cards, and a drop consisting of three leaves, each 7x8, for three cards, all heavily embossed with motto and border design, handsomely tied with ribbons.

THE suggestion recently made by a German geographical society to use picture post-cards as a means of instruction in the schools, has borne fruit and the publishers of post-cards, especially those illustrative of natural history, views of different countries and portraits of great men are at their wits' ends to keep the demand supplied. The school museum at Breslau has undertaken to form a collection of these cards, and for this purpose has requested the various publishers to forward them samples of their output, that it may be determined to what extent they may be used for purposes of instruction. Two teachers in Leipzig have established a central bureau for meritorious post-cards of all sorts intended for purposes of instruction, collection, and travel. These gentlemen select and arrange the cards most carefully according to pedagogical principles. Such prominent educators as Harms, Tischendorf, Rudolf Schmidt, and others have indorsed the plan of using illustrated cards as an aid in instruction, and even official bodies, such as the Provincial Schulkollegium in Potsdam, anticipate favorable results from them. They will come into use in the schools of this country if the subject is brought to the attention of the proper school authorities.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALBANY, N. Y.—The Joseph McDonough Co., formerly located at 39 and 41 Columbia Street, have executed a lease for a long term of years for the building No. 98 State Street, directly opposite the Hotel Ten Eyck. Their new building is five stories and especially adapted to their business. Its location is central, being about one block east of the State Capitol, and but a few minutes' walk from the railroad station and boat landings. Their catalog of rare and fine books will be issued from their new building monthly as in the past. The first to bear their new address is that for May, this year.

BOISE, IDAHO.—C. E. Bonetti is about to open up a book store here.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Wartburg Publishing House has removed to the Studebaker Building, 378 Wabash Avenue, one block south of the Auditorium.

ELLINWOOD, KAN.—J. C. McCracken has opened up a book store here.

NEW YORK CITY.—The American News Company, early in August, will remove to their new quarters at Nos. 9-15 Park Place.

NEW YORK CITY.—R. N. Hays, formerly of Hays, Cushman & Co., of Chicago, has succeeded C. W. Hibbard as manager of the New York branch of the Presbyterian Board of Publication at 156 Fifth Avenue.

NEW YORK CITY.—Daniel H. Newhall, dealer in Lincolniana, has removed to 508 Tribune Building.

NEW YORK CITY.—J. W. Schermerhorn & Co. have removed to 12 W. Thirty-third Street, between Fifth Avenue and Broadway.

NEW YORK CITY.—R. E. Sherwood has added the store east of his present quarters on Maiden Lane, doubling his store space and taking in Nos. 48 and 50, both running through to Liberty Street. In his new store he has opened up a department of ladies' emergency goods. He has also opened up a branch at 145 Fulton Street, opposite his former quarters on that street. This store runs through to Ann Street, and is given up to books, stationery, music, novelties, etc.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—S. B. Fisher, dealer in second-hand books, will remove on May 1 from 5 E. Court Street to 45 Sanfoe Street.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE BROADWAY PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York City, has just ready a work entitled "Light on Dark Places at Panama," by Mary A. Chatfield; also, "Roosevelt and the Republic," by J. W. Bennett.

THE ROYCROFTERS at East Aurora, N. Y., announce that they will publish shortly the works of Elbert Hubbard in forty volumes. The set will be issued in various bindings at prices varying from $10 to $200 a volume.

THOMAS WHITAKER, INC., have just published "The Sermon on the Mount, as Viewed from the Modern Standpoint," in the form of seventeen sermons, by the Rev. J. R. Cohu, Rector of Aston Clinton, recently of Oxford.

B. W. DODGE & Co. have just ready "De Namin' ob de Twins, and Other Sketches from Cotton Land," a series of stories illustrating the ties existing between families and servants in the South, by Mary Fairfax Childs.

THE MAYHEW PUBLISHING COMPANY, 90 Ruggles Street, Boston, Mass., have just brought out "Twin Stars," by J. Breckenridge Ellis, a story having an American amateur genealogist for its hero, lovely twins for its heroines, and the town of Kentuckyville, Mo., for its scene.

THE BOSTON EXPRESSION COMPANY will publish at once "Browning and the Dramatic Monologue, Nature and Interpretation of an Overlooked Form of Literature," by Dr. S. S. Curry, president of the School of Expression, which is addressed to those readers who persist in regarding Browning as difficult.

THE PUBLISHERS' PRINTING COMPANY, 419 Lafayette Street, New York City, have just brought out a new issue of "The Unmasking of Robert Houdin," by Harry Houdini [Weiss.] The book is literally crammed with pictures, portraits and facsimiles of play-bills, etc., and is very interesting reading.

JOHN W. LUCE & Co. will publish shortly "The House of the Falling Leaves, with other Poems," a new volume of verse by William Stanley Braithwaite, whose "Lyrics of Life and Love," published three years ago, won more attention than is ordinarily given to verse by new writers. The new volume will have a cover with a curious Japanese design.

HANS VON WEBER, Munich, Bavaria, announces a work entitled "Aubrey Beardsley, Briefe an Leonard Smithers, Kalendernotizen und die vier Zeichnungen zu E. A. Poe," edited by Franz Blei. The edition will be restricted to 525 copies, of which 500 copies will be printed on hand-made paper and 25 copies on Imperial Japan paper at 14 and 25 marks, respectively.

THE Banquet Committee of the American Booksellers' Association have thus far succeeded in securing the acceptance of the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, Will Irwin and Burgess Johnson, the editor of Judge, to address the Association on the occasion of their dinner to be given at the Aldine Association on the evening of May 20, not the 19th, as inadvertently given in Mr. Davis's letter last week.

RAOUL RENAULT, Quebec, Canada, has in preparation a fine souvenir album for the Quebec Ter-centenary celebration, to be published in French and in English. It will contain a life of Champlain, some historical papers relating to the foundation of the pioneer city of Canada, an article on the battle of the plains, etc., illustrated with rare portraits and prints. The price is twenty-five cents, and the edition is limited.

THE JOHN LANE COMPANY have just ready "The Bishop's Scapegoat," by Thomas Bailey Clegg, author of "The Wilderness" and "The Love Child," one of those novels of primitive human passions and dramatic action from which successful plays are made. The scenes of the story, which deals with the deathbed repentance of an English missionary bishop of a crime for which he allowed an innocent man to suffer, are laid principally in the French penal colony of New Caledonia and in Australia.

ABSTRACTS of two hundred unrecorded wills of old New Yorkers that have recently been found in the surrogates' office by William S. Pelletreau, will be published by the New York Historical Society under the direction of Robert H. Kelby, the librarian of the society, and Mr. Pelletreau. These unrecorded wills, between the dates 1670 and 1730, throw much light on points in New York's history that have heretofore been obscure. Mr. Pelletreau, in going over the documents, has come upon much very interesting matter.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY will publish early in May a book of interest to sportsmen, entitled "In the Woods and on the Shore," by Richard D. Hare, a well-known young attorney of Boston, with illustrations by Charles Livingston Bull. Mr. Ware's book contains a record of several seasons of hunting and fishing in Newfoundland and New Brunswick, after trout, caribou, moose and bear, and along the shores of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the eastern coast of Massachusetts for shore birds and wild fowl.

MOFFAT, YARD & COMPANY announce for early fall publication a book entitled "The Making of the English Bible," by the Rev. Dr. Samuel McComb, who is acquiring a wide reputation in connection with the celebrated Emmanuel Church movement. This book is a popularly written but scholarly attempt to set forth the romantic history of the Bible as we have it to-day in the English language.

The various influences that have gone to shape the English Bible are described, and the debt that it owes to reformers, linguists and theologians is portrayed.

THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION have in preparation under the title of "What Shall I Believe?" nine addresses by the faculty of Auburn Theological Seminary on "Concerning Belief," by Allen Macy Dulles; "Concerning God," by Willis Judson Bucher; "Concerning Jesus Christ," by James Stevenson Riggs; "Concerning the Bible," by George Black Stewart; "Concerning Man," by Allen Macy Dulles; "Concerning Salvation," by Harry Lathrop Reed; "Concerning the Church," by Edward Waite Miller; "Concerning the Resurrection," by James Stevenson Riggs, and "Concerning the Future Life," by Arthur Stephen Hoyt.

THE BALL PUBLISHING COMPANY, 683 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, will publish on May 5 a volume of some of the early essays by Henry James entitled "Views and Reviews," with an introduction by Le Roy Phillips, author of the James bibliography. These essays are critical estimates of Dickens, Browning, Tennyson, Matthew Arnold, among others, and that caustic criticism of "Mr. Walt Whitman," which originally appeared in The Nation. On May 10 they will bring out a book by Sir Oliver Lodge, entitled "The Immortality of the Soul," treated from the point of view of a scientist and psychological researcher; also, Arthur Brisbane's estimate of Mary Baker G. Eddy, illustrated by pen and ink drawings by Homer L. Colby.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY has in preparation a new book by Robert Herrick, entitled "Together," in token of the fact that it is largely concerned with the lives of married people. It is said to be a big, generously constructed book, with a great deal of variety as to scenes and characters. Furthermore, it is promised that it holds a surprise for Mr. Herrick's friends in that it will show him as having abandoned his old rather detached method for a much more personal and intimate manner of writing. They also announce a book entitled "Home Life in Germany," by Mrs. Alfred Sidgwick, author of "The Beryl Stone," etc., who though of English birth is of German parentage and knows both countries equally well; also, a new book by "Barbara," the garden-loving "Commuter's Wife," to be entitled "The Markis and the Major," and to contain twelve stories of human nature.

THE OUTING PUBLISHING COMPANY has just ready a work on "Favorite Fish and Fishing," by Dr. J. A. Henshall, an ardent fisherman and nature lover. After practicing medicine for twenty years, Dr. Henshall gave it up for scientific pursuits, and has been at various times in his career president of the American Fisheries Society, Tampa Society of Natural History, Montana Society of Sciences. He is to-day superintendent of the U. S. fisheries station at Bozeman, Montana, where he has especially distinguished himself as being the first to successfully propagate the grayling. His new work is well illustrated and furnished with information of a thoroughly practical kind for piscatorial devotees. They will publish at once a clever little work, entitled "My Auto Book," by Walter Pulitzer, author of "A Cynic's Meditations," "Cupid's Pack of Cards," and other books of a similar nature. The book is an ingenious conception, inasmuch as, apart from its literary value, it serves as a record for "runs," the left-hand page being set apart for personal entries in the pocket, and the scheme of the novelty has lent itself to artistic treatment. There are some thirty-six highly humorous drawings by Hy. S. Watson and others.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce a fifth series of the "Shelburne Essays," by Paul Elmer More, literary editor of The New York Evening Post and The Nation. The first four essays of this series—essays which would seem to indicate a determination on the part of the author to come into closer touch with modern life, and to centre his attention upon English literature as an interpretation of that life—were planned and written in a deserted farmhouse near the village of Shelburne, N. H., where the author lived for two years with his books and a dog as companions. From this episode these essays derive their title. They also announce "Letters of Cortes," the five letters of "relation" from Fernando Cortes to the Emperor Charles v., translated and edited with a biographical introduction and notes compiled from original sources by Francis Augustus MacNutt. Although the value of these letters has been recognized by historians from the beginning, they have not until now been translated into English. "How to Cook Fish," by "Olive Green," an addition to Putnam's Home-making Series, is promised for early publication next month. The series already includes four books treating of breakfasts, luncheons, simple soups and shell fish.

THE immediate publication by Henry Holt & Co. of "People and Problems," a collection of addresses and editorials, by Dr. Fabian Franklin, marks the termination of an editorship of very unusual importance and influence. From the time when Dr. Franklin assumed editorial control of the Baltimore News, in 1895, that paper acquired a national reputation for independence, fairmindedness and soundness of information equalled by very few journals throughout the land. Not a few of Dr. Franklin's editorials and addresses possess permanent value, and it is for this reason that the publishers have undertaken to bring them before the general public. The range of subjects is very wide and reflects the resources of a writer of remarkable grasp of public questions, both American and foreign. His work as an editor has, indeed, attracted attention both here and abroad, the Frankfurter Zeitung, for instance, having but a few weeks ago reprinted one of his articles as a model of lucid and temperate discussion. Dr. Franklin's equipment for the position he so long held was a very unusual one. His early interest in mathematics led after eight years spent in civil engineering and surveying to his appointment in 1877 to a fellowship in the Johns Hopkins University, where, two years later, he was made associate professor, retaining this chair until he assumed charge of the News. While still engaged in mathematical pursuits, Dr. Franklin had given evidence of his keen interest in economic subjects and public concerns, and his occasional contributions on these matters, in the New York Evening Post and some of the principal periodicals, attracted the attention of leading economists. The citizens of Baltimore recognized the signal services rendered by Dr. Franklin to their city and State by a public dinner given him on April 10.

THE JOHN C. WINSTON COMPANY has nearly ready an entirely new encyclopedia of quotations, by William S. Walsh, the author of several standard literary reference books, and for a number of years literary editor of the New York Herald. The book has been named "The International Encyclopedia of Prose and Poetical Quotations," the publishers believing that an account of their widespread identification with the "International" series of Bibles of which they are proprietors, the new encyclopedia of quotations would be thus more readily distinguished from other works of the kind. While it claims to be as complete and accurate as any work of the kind on the market and brought down to more recent date, it will be sold at a lower price than most compilations of this kind. Special features of the work are the arrangement of all quotations, English and foreign, under one alphabet and the inclusion of a most exhaustive single index to the whole collection of quotations, lists of the authors quoted showing some 1,300 names, and a topical index of subjects for cross reference. They have in hand a manuscript by the Rev. Frank T. Lee, of Washburn College, Topeka, Kan., called "Side Lights on the Bible," in which is presented a large amount of information on the geography, customs and history of Bible lands and people, designed for the use of Sunday-school teachers, scholars and other students of the Scriptures. The author made a favorable impression with his "Bible Study Popularized" a few years ago, and has also written a book on "Luke as a Literary Man." They are adding to their long list of standard books, new illustrated editions printed on thin Bible paper, and bound in limp leather, of Hugo's "Les Misérables," Carlyle's "French Revolution," Blackmore's "Lorna Doone," Eliot's "Romola," Macaulay's "History of England" and "Plutarch's Lives." These books will be published in a series called the Ideal Classics.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplaced advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Another Roaring Fun Book!

Smiling 'Round the World

MARSHALL P. WILDER

Author of "The Sunny Side of the Street"

of World-Wide
Laughs

*"Mirth is Medicine, and Laughter
Lengthens Life"*

If this be true (and few will gainsay it), then all who read this lightsome volume should live to a healthy,
happy old age,
for here is a book bubbling over with real, spontaneous humor from one of the world's born fun-makers, and with many a bit of wit from other inimitable merry-makers.

Merry-
Go-Round
Fun

*"Laugh and the World
Laughs with You"*

can be truly said
of Marshall P.
Wilder, the captivating entertainer of Presidents,
Kings, Princes
and the great public. As the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew says, "His mirth is contagious," and as the Hon. Henry Labouchere remarked, "He makes melancholy fly apace." You'll find laughs bubbling all through this new book.

Marshall P. Wilder needs no introduction to the reading public. His many years as a successful entertainer in all parts of the world, and the immediate and lasting hit which he recently made with "The Sunny Side of the Street," give every indication of a warm welcome for "Smiling 'Round the World." In this new volume he recounts and portrays many striking scenes and incidents of his recent trip around the world. In his own happy-go-lucky way "Marsh" went smiling around the world, and the vivid scenes he pictures, the people he tells about, and the irrepressible strain of humor which runs through the entire tale make "Smiling 'Round the World" one of the jolliest of books, and one for which a large call can be anticipated. The world-wide fame of the author will no doubt contribute much to its popularity.

Hustling for Business in Summer Time

To the Retail Bookseller :

¶ While to most people summer means a season of recreation or loafing, to the bookseller it means increased activity and watchfulness to maintain the continuity of business and to bridge over until the fall and holiday season brings relief.

¶ One of the most important aids in pushing business during the "dull" season is a tempting catalogue in magazine form of books suitable for shore and mountain reading, such as is prepared by this office in "SUMMER READING." It is prepared with the view of bringing to the special attention of summer visitors the books in which they are most likely to be interested, and of giving attractive foretastes of the delights stored in them.

¶ Such a catalogue should be found serviceable by two classes of the trade : first, by city dealers, who may retain trade by filling orders by mail for the multitudes who go far out of sight of any bookstore, but can be cultivated by the aid of Uncle Sam ; and second, by booksellers at or near summer resorts, who desire to pleasantly acquaint summer visitors that there is a bookstore near at hand from which they can be supplied. With such an aid old customers may be retained and new trade created.

¶ "SUMMER READING" has been issued annually for a number of years, and has become a regular feature of the trade. With its new and attractive cover, bearing the special imprint of the dealer, it is adapted for circulation all through the summer, and that, too, at a price which will enable any bookseller to make at least a trial of securing trade through its means.

The terms for editions with imprint are as follows :

100 copies, $3.50; 250 copies, $8.00; 500 copies, $15.00

¶ Ready for shipment May 30th. Directions for shipping should be given with the order. If sent by mail, postage will be charged extra.

¶ Orders for imprint editions should be sent at once, as the edition is limited to the number of copies ordered in advance.
